Subject: Invitation to Address ETSI's Annual Business Innovation Conference :
Vision of the Wireless Network of the Future
Demonstrating How to Convert Innovative Research into Commercially Successful
Products and Services
2nd – 3rd November 2009, Brussels

Dear Madam,
Dear Sir,

Initial research is currently being carried out for ETSI's Annual Business Innovation Conference-vision of the wireless network of the future. This forward-looking 2 day conference will investigate future wireless technologies, how to implement them and how to make them a commercial success. Now is the ideal time to have your say and input into what topics should be included, whom you would like to hear from (speaker/company) and whether you would like to propose yourself/company to speak at the conference.

Don't miss the opportunity to be involved in this conference right from the start and be part of the discussions of how to effectively bridge the gap between research and development and launch commercially successful products and services.

To discuss topics and this exciting speaking opportunity please contact: Dr Jane Watson – jane.watson@informa.com.

Yours faithfully,

Dr. Walter Weigel
ETSI Director General
